

THE COLONNADE

VOL. 1

GEORGIA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN, MILLEDGEVILLE, GA., OCT. 20, 1925

NO. 3

W. C. T. U. HOLDS CONVENTION IN MACON

Gainesville Chosen For Next Meet

From Oct. 6-10, the forty-second annual convention of the Ga. W. C. T. U. convened at the Mulberry Methodist church in Macon, Ga. It is rather a significant fact that forty-two years ago, in this same church, the Ga. union was organized under the direction of Frances E. Willard, the mother of prohibition.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, of Eatonton, Ga., is president of the union, and as she took the floor the entire audience rose to its feet and gave her the white ribbon salute. Mrs. Armour is internationally known and loved, but she is perhaps dearer to those in her own state who have felt her influence most. She is a forceful speaker and in a convincing manner she fairly hurled fact after fact at her audience.

"The biggest fight is now on the hands of the W. C. T. U., the fight against salacious literature and motion pictures and a wide educational program must be carried on until the people know the real facts of alcohol."

"It is an utter fallacy to say that prohibition has brought about the present day ills. In 1924 the best health record that the country has ever had was made. During that year the death rate was actually less than during the previous year, for the first time since records have been made."

Mrs. Nellie Burger, president of the state of Mo. W. C. T. U., inspired her audience with a message in which she said:

"You and I are the finger of the hand of God that wrote the law of total abstinence."

"The wets say that we put pro-

Continued on last page

G. S. C. STUDENT WINS CONTEST

Eunice Barnes To Be "Miss M'ville"

Eunice Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Homer Barnes, and a student of the Georgia State College for Women will represent the city of Milledgeville on the Northeastern tour offered by nine business firms here to some girl. The contest began the first of August. Several of Milledgeville's loveliest and most popular girls were in the race for the title, the trip and the honors. The contest was spirited and enthusiastic throughout, and each girl had many friends who were working for her. The votes were counted each week and at nearly every tally a new name headed the list. The contest was so close that it was impossible even to predict who would be the fortunate young lady.

The final counting and verification of the votes was made Monday afternoon by a representative from each firm sponsoring the trip, and Miss Barnes was found to be leading. Mrs. Edith Miller Gibson, popular young matron was runner-up.

The girls were present at the final counting, and Miss Milledgeville's friendly rivals were the first to congratulate her. She and her party were guests of the Colonial Theatre on Monday night. She spoke to the audience, and thanked those who had worked for her.

Due to the fact that she is in school now, she will not go with the October tourists. She has postponed her trip until next summer after her graduation.—Milledgeville Times.

DR. M. M. PARKS CHAPEL SPEAKER

College Girls To Give Their Best

On Friday morning Dr. M. M. Parks, president of the Georgia State College, at Milledgeville, made a talk to the student-body.

Dr. Parks, is a person who always arouses enthusiasm and hopefulness. All who heard this talk were impressed with the pleasant bit of information and inspiration, out of the morning.

He began by saying, "Don't give up, be strong, afraid of nothing or anyone except to do wrong." "Respect the rights of others but do not deny yourself any of the Christian graces in doing so."

He furthermore stated that scholarship was important, but greater than this is charm of manner, sweetness and genuineness of spirit, and loveliness of personality. He used illustrations from the lives of Mr. Bryan and Mr. Wilson. They stood the targets and come through victorious. He said that the highest tribute was paid to Mr. Bryan when someone said, "He was charming and graceful, as loving as a child, and as gentle as a woman."

In his concluding remarks Dr. Parks made an earnest plea that the girls at G. S. C. unfold their enthusiasm, their youth, their powers, their charms, their Christian graces.

Dr. Parks ended this forceful talk by asking the students, "to cultivate humbleness, and to pattern after our Lord's sermon on the mount. No where in the world can we find a more pleasing example of humility, gentleness, and sweetness; supplemented with the strength of understanding."

"Girls be jolly, healthy, strong in body and spirit, charming in manner, and fearless in doing right." Hold your heads up! And play, and sing, and laugh and learn, and don't forget to be sweet.

All Hope Lost

Burglar—"Don't be alarmed lady, I shan't touch you, All I want is your money."

Old Maid—"Oh, go away! You are just like all the other horrid men!"

MATH CLUB MEETS

Elect Officers For 1925-26

The Mathematics club held its first meeting for the year, Oct. 9. Miss Alice Napier, advisor for the club, acted as chairman during the election of the following officers: Sara Nelson, from Oglethorpe, Ga., president; Juanita Carr, Columbus, Ga., vice-president; Martha Claxton, Beuna Vista, Ga., secretary-treasurer; Johnelle Camp, Newman, chairman of the Program Committee; Lena Parker, Gabbettsville, and Sypper Youman's, Lexsy, co-chairman of the Social Committee.

Sara Nelson then took charge of the meeting and plans were made for the year. The club is to hold bi-monthly meetings; one of which is to be a combination business and literary, while the other is to be entirely social.

To become a member of the club one must be specializing in mathematics. The present enrollment consists of twelve members.

The Math Club has long been a prominent factor on the campus. Its success and continued work being assured by the full realization of its aims in the past. It is designed to bring the students of the mathematics department together other than through the angle of a right triangle.

JUNIORS RECEIVE PRIVILEGES

Polly Moss Elected President

It has been and is of much interest to all, to note the growth of the Georgia State College for Women. This growth is especially shown by the yearly increase of the students in the Senior and Junior degree classes.

The two classes have always been first to organize. As the seniors completed their organization several weeks ago, the Junior class spent much time during the past week in electing its officers.

After much thought and careful consideration the following officers were elected:

President, Mary Moss, of Columbus, Ga. "Polly," during her freshman year was president of Freshman Council, and is now serving her third year as a member of the executive board of Y. W. C. A.

Vice-President, Edith Fletcher, of Jackson, Ga. Edith is a former President of the Sophomore class of 1924-25.

Sparta, Ga., is the home of the Secretary, Ruth Moran, who has been

Continued on last page

550 ENLIST FOR BIBLE STUDY

Faculty Members Teach Classes

The Bible Study Classes, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. are organized. The plans for the coming year are already made, and a definite course of study begun.

The classes, nineteen in number, are to give the students an opportunity to continue the Bible study begun in the Sunday School back home. The corps of teachers are members of the college faculty who are generously giving their time to this work.

Each of the four college classes are to study a different phase of the Bible. The Freshman class is to study "The Life of Christ;" the Sophomores are to study "The Life of Paul;" the Juniors, "Women of the Bible;" the Seniors, "The Prophets."

Adequate books on each subject, are to be provided for an extensive study.

Appreciation for this opportunity has been shown by five hundred fifty girls who have registered their names for these courses.

STRUMMERS REORGANIZE

Louise Phipps, Elected Pres.

The Jolly Strummers Stringed Orchestra reorganized Friday, Oct. 9.

The first regular meeting of the year was held in Terrell C little parlor. The meeting was called to order by Louise Phipps who acted as Chairman. After the preliminaries the following officers were elected: Louise Phipps, President; Avonelle Salmon, Business Manager; Merle McTyre, Corresponding Secretary; Monah Whitley, Chairman of the Social Committee; Jenny Harris, Pianist and Director.

This wide-awake club is a prominent factor in the social life on the campus.

In addition to the instruments used last year, the club urges that all violin or saxophone players bring their instruments and join at the next meeting.

LYCEUM SEASON OPENS OCT. 14

Lt. Jack Harding Is first Attraction

Dr. Parks and members of the lyceum committee have scheduled for the Fall term charming and educational features. They promise to the student body musicians, lecturers, magicians and artists of various types. Much wholesome amusement is anticipated by all who are interested in this unusual college program.

On Wednesday evening, October 14, Lieutenant Jack Harding gave a lecture on "The First World Flight."

Thrilling pictures, both in motion and color, visualized this outstanding achievement of the age. "Smiling Jack" Harding, one of the six Marvellous of the air, who made the first circumnavigation of the earth by airplane, was Lieutenant Erik Nelson's companion in piloting the "New Orleans." They started March 17, 1924, and ended five months and three days later. Twenty-eight foreign countries were visited. The three ships flew approximately 371 hours.

As true Americans we are proud that Uncle Sam can boast the first world fliers; and we feel both privileged and indebted that we have had the rare opportunity of seeing and hearing the claimant of such an honor.

The next lyceum feature, scheduled for Saturday evening, October 24, is a lecture by John Cowper Powys, M. A., brilliant English novelist, poet and essayist. Mr. Powys was formerly a staff lecturer for the extension societies of Oxford and Cambridge Universities. This scholar, internationally famous, is a native of Shirley, Derbyshire England, and was educated at Sherborne School and Corpus Christi College, Cambridge University. He lectures on Shakespeare, psycho-analysis, race psychology, literary courses, and social problems; and he promises an interesting and vital subject for his engagement here. "The Art of Self-Culture," "The Ten Best Books," "What is a Perfect Gentleman?" are some of his favorites.

Mr. Edgar C. Raines, the world's best authority on Alaska, has been

Continued on last page

ENGLISH SENIORS ORGANIZE

Large Class In History

Sixty-nine English Seniors met on Friday, October 2, at five thirty, to organize as a class. Miss Scott briefly told them of what the English Seniors before them had planned and carried out. Particular temporary plans for the coming year were discussed.

The class formed its organization in a business-like way. The officers for the year 1925-1926 included:

President: Christine Thompson. Vice-President: Frances Upshaw. Secretary: Annie Laurie Godbee. Treasurer: Dorothy Toole.

Mr. Wynn from the English Faculty, was elected to act as ex-officio for the group. He was very gracious in pledging himself to the interests and pleasures of the English Seniors. Mr. Wynn in his interesting way, read a selection from Josh Billings to the group, and added a few personal remarks.

The meeting was suggestive of the interest and enthusiasm that is to be instrumental in carrying out the plans of the English Seniors for the coming year.

Miss Elizabeth Barfield was the guest of her sister, Evelyn Barfield, for the week-end.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS VISIT COUNTY FAIR

Take Afternoon For Play

The entire faculty and student body attended the Baldwin County Fair Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 14. The students were divided into five groups. Each group was accompanied by one of the following faculty members: Miss Napier, Miss Harper, Miss Andrews, Dr. Webber, and Prof. Thaxton.

Classes were dismissed so that every one might take advantage of this opportunity. And there was not one who felt themselves too old, or too busy, to play one afternoon.

The total expense of the Fair to each student was fifty cents, paid at the entrance. This was possible because of a previous arrangement made by Dr. Parks with the Fair Committee. Eight of the Carnival shows were open to the girls including the merry-go-round, the whip, the Ferris wheel, and others, the admission being included in the gate receipts.

The charm of the students' uniform, on this gala day, was enhanced by a tiny souvenir hat containing a single feather. This feathered group carried in their hands anything from a walking cane to a bag of peanuts. Across the front of a white waist, occasionally could be seen, a badge on which was printed, "Slow But Sure," "I'm Out for a Good Time," or any other appropriate motto.

One of the shows which was particularly interesting, and instructive, as well, was "The Submarine." There one saw the different actions of the submarine engaged in warfare. Another was the "Periscope." Here the use of the periscope was demonstrated by viewing the entire Fair grounds from the interior of a dark room.

Nothing surpassed the merry-go-

Continued on last page

BOOSTERS FORM CLUB

Meet at Home of Mr. Wynn

The members of the Boosters' Club gathered for their first meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wynn.

Mr. Wynn, head of the English department, received his guests in a spacious manner. He requested that they register, by placing their names and addresses in the guest-book, after which Mrs. Wynn served delicious punch.

Anna Elizabeth Branch, acted as chairman, during the business program. She introduced Kathleen Monts, of Statesboro, Ga., and Syper Youmans of Lexsy, Ga., who serve as circulation managers of The Colonnade, and because of this office are to work with the Booster.

Mr. Wynn made an informal talk in which he assured those present that they have much to give to the paper, briefly outlining how this can be done.

The Club is composed of forty-seven Freshmen who have had experience on high school newspapers and annuals. Several of them had the office of editor-in-chief, others were associate editors and business managers.

One of the chief purposes in forming the club is that the members will be instrumental in making The Colonnade function in the freshman class. Also it is hoped that from such a group there will develop members capable of filling possible staff vacancies next year.

VISIT THE COLONNADE BOOTH

The Colonnade

Published bi-monthly by the students of the Georgia State College for Women.

Subscription Rates: $1.00 per year.

STAFF

Anna Elizabeth Branch	Editor-in-Chief
Hazel Hogan, Marguerite Jackson, Ellen McKee	Associate Editors
Irene Lamkin, Martha Hendricks	Business Managers
Margaret Meaders	Society Editor
Frances Harris	Alumnae Editor
Margaret Hightower	Exchange Editor
Lucetta Lawrence	Joke Editor
Kathleen Monts, Syppor Youmans	Circulation Managers
Eleanor Hatcher	Senior Reporter
Mary Hyman	Junior Reporter
Jerry Harris, Amy Dickson	Sophomore Reporters
Mr. W. T. Wynn	Faculty Advisor

COLONNADE BOOSTERS' CLUB

Louise Lamar, Margaret Lewis, Eleanor Oliff, Ola Mann, Lollie Carmichael, Eleanor Mills, Lillian Donnell, Marcelle Johnson, Katherine West, Gladys McMichael, Cornelia Lowe, Flora McLean, Leon Chapman, Sunora Dumas, Mary J. Parker, Katya Stricklin, Sadie Kata Gourson, Odessa Gillis, Margaret Miller, Helen Waller, Erroll McDaniel, Bunn Gladin, Leila May Brooks, Harriet Berry, Lucile Hemphill, Laura Lee Gibson, Marie Tucker, Mary Peacock, Frances Raven, Fankie Raines, Helen Greene, Alline Ryals, Vivian Reeves, Elizabeth Johnston, Connie Willingham, Katherine Weaver, Vivian Ruby, Lillian Lowe, Mary Frances Cowan, Mable Stovall, Mary Lehmann, Leslie Cook, Camilla Herring, Louise McMakin, Frances Gill, Margaret Vickery, Pat Lilly.

A MINISTER'S OPINION ON AMERICA'S CRIME PROBLEM.

Mr. Emory, minister of the First Methodist Church of Milledgeville, has some very definite and instructive information about the great crime wave which has been sweeping the country for the last decade, beginning before the World War and seeming to culminate in the last year. He seems to believe, and official statistics bear him out in his belief, that the world has been keyed up to an abnormal pitch in the last decade and one of the by-products of this discontent and restlessness which has overcome every nation is a feverish growth of crime.

He is especially interested as a man of the Church, in the fact that most of the money which was stolen in 1924 was embezzled by men who were thought to be of the highest moral character. Two hundred and fifty million dollars were stolen in that year alone, by men who were implicitly trusted by their employers. One of the biggest indemnity companies capitalized at ten million dollars has paid out in the last ten years ten times the amount of space only the most choice morsels will be offered.

A wide awake exchange column bound" and helps perpetuate news that is interesting because it is akin to, or covers, that which occurs on the "home campus." The Colonnade's purpose to acquaint its readers with a few of the most interesting happenings on other campuses. Because of the small amount of space only the most choice morsels will be offered.

When I pick up the evening paper, the front-page headlines receive hasty glance, that is unless they herald some astounding event; if this occurs my attention is concentrated there until the last paragraph has been read.

However, after scanning these news items of greater importance, I pass on until I reach my goal—the comic section. Here I pause for enjoyment. "Childish?" No, doubt, but somehow I feel a decided appeal in these cartoons which have a way of exaggerating our favorite mannerisms.

I like to feel that I enjoy these comics because I enjoy people—their oddities, their troubles, and their various philosophies of life. For in this part of the dailies we find a mirror, which in its own imperfect and individual way, unmasks the disguise of just plain everyday folks.

I begged for the funny paper when I followed Father's finger as he pointed out the painted characters; I still like to read them and chuckle over them. I hope I shall never grow too old to enjoy the funny side of the newspaper and the humorous side of life.

THE ADVERTISERS

BOOST

When asked to aid in editing our college paper, The Colonnade, merchants of Milledgeville complied willingly, even gladly. To them, much credit for the success of the first issue of the paper is due.

It is encouraging to the staff and to the general student body to know that the people of Milledgeville are back of them in such an undertaking. Doubly gratifying is their belief in the ability of those who thought it possible and worth while for the college to have a paper.

These advertisers made the appearance of the Colonnade and to them it will look for hearty support in the future.

Now that the "beginning" is successfully over, it should be "easy sailing" in the future. It will surely be if the present spirit of cooperation continues. The Colonnade is a new adventure into a hereto-for slightly explored region and for all factors contributing to its success, the girls are truly grateful.

INTERCOLLEGiate

From many other colleges and universities there have come to The Colonnade office many types of publications with urgent requests for exchange. So through this column it is the Colonnade's purpose to acquaint its readers with a few of the most interesting happenings on other campuses. Because of the small amount of space only the most choice morsels will be offered.

The musical features of the program were furnished by Miss Evelyn Hicks, Violinist; Miss Louise Carroll, Pianist; and Demeen McCormick, Violinist. Mrs. Bowden urged the members to continue to attend the monthly meetings of the Alumnae Association and to support its activities.—Atlanta Journal.

When I pick up the evening paper, the front-page headlines receive hasty glance, that is unless they herald some astounding event; if this occurs my attention is concentrated there until the last paragraph has been read.

However, after scanning these news items of greater importance, I pass on until I reach my goal—the comic section. Here I pause for enjoyment. "Childish?" No, doubt, but somehow I feel a decided appeal in these cartoons which have a way of exaggerating our favorite mannerisms.

I like to feel that I enjoy these comics because I enjoy people—their oddities, their troubles, and their various philosophies of life. For in this part of the dailies we find a mirror, which in its own imperfect and individual way, unmasks the disguise of just plain everyday folks.

I begged for the funny paper when I followed Father's finger as he pointed out the painted characters; I still like to read them and chuckle over them. I hope I shall never grow too old to enjoy the funny side of the newspaper and the humorous side of life.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Carolyn Eubanks, '23, of Macon, is studying music at Boston Conservatory. Miss Eubanks was a member of the G. S. C. W. music faculty last year.

The Seventh District A. & M. school at Powder Springs has three G. S. C. W. Alumnae as faculty members. Wyoline Hanson, A. B., '25, teaches English; Estelle Poindexter, Science; Neina Clark, Home Economics.

When this astonishing piece of news reached him, he thought, this is the time for me to show my bravery. I always was good at playing hero, now I'll tell those G. S. C. W. girls about it." He rushed to the edge of the campus where already scores of people were gathered to see the roof of the building in flames. Pushing his way through the crowd, he gathered a number of comrades together. The rescue party was formed. Some of the boys contented themselves with helping the firemen with the hose, but the Cadet rushed headlong into the building. His only thought was to help the girls? He carried trunks, hatboxes and mattresses from third floor to deposit them on the campus. He was sure that the girls smiled at him. Yes, he knew that they were saying lots of nice things about his bravery. Well! what of it? He had revived a fainting girl, carried out trunks, collected enough pictures for an art gallery, and lost his cap in the rush. He wasn't burned because the fire had only burned a small hole in the roof. When the fire was completely out, he carried the trunks back into the building quite cheerfully as an hour ago, he had brought them down.

When order was restored and every trunk in its place, who should be the first to congratulate the Cadet but the president himself. Would he like to meet some of the girls? Sure (casually), but as he turned to speak to the lovely blonde whom he had often seen down town, and whom he longed to meet, the bugle sounded.

The general greed for money, for material possessions and worldly pleasures may be natural enough in this time when so many varied forms of pleasure are procurable with money, but this certainly is not a wholesome situation. Mr. Emory's last word is an appeal to the parents and to the institutions which help train children to adapt themselves to this age of rash and discontent without losing the great ideal of moral integrity.

HAND IT ON.

To you from courageous hands has been given the great trust of student government. In the years gone by, girls worked and sacrificed that you may come into your own with grace and faith. Today you hold within your power, each student of this great college in Georgia, that trust for which those who have gone on before lived. As you receive the responsibility of self-government may it be with joy, with sincerity of purpose, and with determination to pass it on unspotted to those who await the gift.

There are many scattered over these Southern states who wait and watch each day in the hope that their Alma Mater may grow in such a way that her influence may be felt in every corner where her girls may live. This influence is yours to wield as you wish. Take it and make it by your hand.

Editorial Staff

CULVER & KIDD

DRUG CO.

The Home of the
COLLEGE COMPACT
Price $1.00 and $1.50

BOONE'S PHARMACY

Appreciates Your Business
Prescriptions Promptly and Carefully Filled
A full line of Toilet Articles,
Stationery and Sundries. Call us
396 Day Phone Night 117-J

ROGER'S
GROCERY HEADQUARTERS
FOR G. S. C. W.
WE SERVE YOU BEST
FOR THE LEAST PRICE

CITY BAKERY
Cocoanut Macaroons, Almond
Macaroons Kisses, Jelly Rolls,
Muffin Cakes, Devil Food Cake,
Sandwich Bread, Plain Rolls
FRESH DAILY AT

SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK

Ladies' Silk Hose in All New Shades, Rust, Black and White

E. E. BELL

We Develop Kodak

Films

Prescriptions A Specialty

Fraley's Pharmacy

Phone 118

Phone 118

For
Hemstitching and Picotting
SEE MRS. J. C. HENDERSON
AT SINGER MACHINE OFFICE
Prompt and Efficient Service

CHANDLER'S
5c and 10c STORE
Hancock St.
Service—Satisfaction

Jokes

JOKES.

There's A Reason
Room Mate—"May I please borrow your tie?"
Ditto—"Why the formality?"
Room Mate—"Couldn't find it."

Slam

"I'm awfully sorry, Miss Thorpe," drawled the fashionable youth, "that I forgot your party last night."

"Oh," remarked Miss Thorpe, weren't you there?"—Lehigh Burr.

Quite Credible

Fresh—Coming in late to an eight o'clock class) "I'm late Professor, but I-I had to wash my neck and ears this morning. I declare it won't happen again."

Free Advertising

History Teacher—"What are the exports of Virginia?"

Stude—"Tobacco and live stock, ma'am."

T. T.—"Live stock? What kind of live stock?"

Stude—"Camels, ma'am."

Well, Well

First Frosh—"Which is proper: Prince Albert or Tuxedo to a social function?"

Second Frosh—"Say leave your pipe at home."—Lehigh Burr.

An' That Ain't All, I fell for her in the book room, 'Twas a stormy night outside; Oh, yes, of course, I took her home Tha tevening from the Libe. She was blue-eyed, blonde and rosy; Rosie, I think, was her name. She had red lips, n' everything— That camouflage ajane. But the best thing of all about her, Better than all her good looks, She was plump, and warm, and filled my arms— Yes, filled my arms—with books. —California Pelican.

He Was a Ford.

Father (upstairs)—It is time for that young man to go home.

Young Man—Your father is a crank.

Father (overhearing)—Well, when you don't have a self-starter, a crank comes in mighty handy.—Pitt Panther.

Then He Flew the Coop.
Mrs. Henpeck—"You know, John, I consider pigeons the most stupid of all creatures."

Hubby (unthinkingly)—"Yes, my dove."

An Eye For Business
A pretty girl was eagerly watching a drill at a camp when a rifle volley crashed out. With a surprised scream, she shrank back into the arms of a corporal who was standing behind her.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," she exclaimed, blushing; "I was so frightened by the rifles."

"That's all right," said the corporal, let's go over and watch the heavy artillery."

HALLOWE'EN
Everybody celebrates Hallowe'en. G. S. C. W. has a state wide reputation for Hallowe'en observance—Masks and Novelties at

WOOTTON'S BOOK STORE

She—I wouldn't stand for that if I were you. Why don't you call him a liar?

He—That's just what I'll do. Where—where is your telephone?—Minnesota Foolscap.

LYCEUM SEASON

OPENS OCT. 14

Continued from first page

engaged to tell us of that "frontier wonderland of the world." This promises to be a superb production, delightfully entertaining and highly instructive.

At a later date noted Hungarian musicians are to offer entertainment. Many other charming features are in store for lyceum fans. We feel that our college is especially fortunate in having such interesting and instructive lyceum attractions.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS VISIT COUNTY FAIR

Continued from first page

round in popularity. The line of girls waiting their turn was many yards long. However, the students were not the only ones who were reminded of the "rocking-horse days," it seems that "over forty" is not too long to remember.

JUNIORS RECEIVE PRIVILEGES

Continued from first page

a faithful worker for the Y. W. C. A. and now serves as executive of the Service Department.

Milledgeville is represented by Frances Thaxton, treasurer of the class. She too, has proved a loyal Y. W. C. A. worker and now serves as chairman of the Community Service Committee.

That the Junior Class has already shown a splendid spirit of cooperation is an undisputed fact. Future loyalty and service to the Alma Mater was pledged by the class officers in chapel Friday morning, Oct. 16. At this time the Junior class conducted the chapel exercises, singing the class song, and the four officers expressing anew the aims of the class in keeping the standards of the college ever high.

Each member of the class stood as

OUR POLICY
"To Sell only the Best"
See Us For Fountain Pens, Pencils, Inks and Stationery

Williams & Ritchie
JEWELERS
MILLEDGEVILLE, GA.

For Best Groceries
And Least Prices
COME OR PHONE US
Chandler's Grocery

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

Enclosed find $1.00 for which please send me "The Colonnaide" for one year.

Name

Address

P. O.

her name was read as having the privilege of having her name on the Junior Honor Roll.

"Polly" Moss, the president likened the class to a building on the campus, which she said "had as its foundation, sincerity and strength of character. Its walls made of that material, cooperation, which will hold the class together. Its strength and durability is obtained from a material known as service, self-mastery and sacrifice. The light which shines through its windows is the illumination of those high ideals Dr. Parks ever holds before us.

"After much remodeling and changing is so near completion it is able to reflect some of that spirit of service in which it has its origin. Thus the structure of the Junior class of 1925-26 is building its towers into the sky of ideals and standards which will ever prevail at G. S. C. W.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS

CONVENTION IN MACON

Continued from first page

hibition over, while the boys were in France. That is the greatest libel I have ever heard. We put it over by a 65,000 majority because the boys had come home."

Mrs. Burger is a strong advocate of maintenance of the law. She spoke with fervor concerning the stupendous task of ridding the world of the liquor traffic.

On Wednesday morning, Mrs. Lelia Dillard of Emory University, Ga., led the memorial service in honor of their promoted comrades; only a mention of each name was made in the general reading of these soldiers who died while fighting in the cause.

Among the 300 delegates were about twenty students representing the Ga. State College, at Milledgeville, and State Normal College of Athens. On Friday evening the program was turned over to these two groups and a representation from Wesleyan College. They presented impressive pageants.

This year is young people's year, and for this reason the closing address was made by one who works with girls, Mrs. Nelle Upshaw Gannon, of Athens. Mrs. Gannon challenged young and old with the obligation that is theirs to make the world safe for humanity.

Gainesville was selected as the next place of meeting, and Macon was chosen as the permanent headquarters of the W. C. T. U. in this section. The formal opening will be on Jan. 18, at which time a large law enforcement program will be given in celebration of the event.

Bell Grocery Co.

Wholecale and Retail

Potato Chips—Gelfand's Relish

Mayonaise—Merita Bread

Cakes—Salted Peanuts

Fancy Groceries, Assorted Candies

263 PHONES 498

Manhattan Fruit Co.

Hancock St.

Hot Lunches, Hamburgers, Weiners, Coffee and Soft Drinks. All Kinds of Fruit in Season. Polite Service—Come and Satisfy Your Appetite. Call 296.

BURKE & TUCKER

JONES DRUG STORE

Quality Service
Satisfied Customers
PHONE 111

Union Recorder

QUALITY PRINTING
"Quality and Service Our Motto"

—ASK THE OLD GIRLS—

They Know

BALDWIN HOTEL

CATERING TO THE COLLEGE TRADE

VISIT CARR'S EMPORIUM

FOR UP-TO-DATE
Millinery, Hat Frames
Millinery Trimmings

BLAIN'S SHOE PLANT AND PRESSING CLUB

If We Can't "Fix 'em"
Throw them Away
SUDDEN SERVICE, PHONE 373

BENSON'S BREAD IS GOOD BREAD

CAKES LIKE THE HOME FOLKS BAKE

BENSON'S BAKERY

A few Items of Special Interest on Sale Monday, Oct. 26

29c Brassiers, Pink only, Size 32 to 42 15c

$1.50 Knickers, All Colors, Lee's Price 98c

19c-23c Cretonne 15 Patterns, Special .15c

LEE'S DEPT. STORE